

Published on Corrente (<http://www.correntewire.com>)

Home > Holy Fuck! U.N. resolution condemns blasphemy.

Image not found

vastleft's picture

Holy Fuck! U.N. resolution condemns blasphemy.

Submitted by vastleft on Fri, 03/27/2009 - 11:45pm

Departments:

Religious people are the best people [1]

Thread:

Theocracy Rising [2]

Is nothing sacred? For example, freedom of expression [3]?

A United Nations forum on Thursday passed a resolution condemning "defamation of religion" as a human rights violation, despite wide concerns that it could be used to justify curbs on free speech in Muslim countries.

The U.N. Human Rights Council adopted the non-binding text, proposed by Pakistan on behalf of Islamic states, with a vote of 23 states in favour and 11 against, with 13 abstentions.

Western governments and a broad alliance of activist groups have voiced dismay about the religious defamation text, which adds to recent efforts to broaden the concept of human rights to protect communities of believers rather than individuals.

Pakistan, speaking for the 56-nation Organisation of the Islamic Conference (OIC), said a "delicate balance" had to be struck between freedom of expression and respect for religions.

And, why is that, Pakistan? Why does superstition trump freedom? Am I even allowed to ask?

No votes yet

Source URL (modified on 03/27/2009 - 11:47pm):

http://www.correntewire.com/holy_fuck_un_resolution_condemns_blasphemy?page=0

Links

[1] http://www.correntewire.com/departments/religious_people_are_the_best_people

[2] http://www.correntewire.com/thread/theocracy_rising

[3] <http://in.reuters.com/article/worldNews/idINIndia-38730220090326>