

Stupidest career "progressives" on the face of the earth

Kevin Drum [1] presents this chart:

Drum interprets:

What we have isn't a spending problem. That's under control. What we have is a problem with Republicans not wanting to pay the bills they themselves were largely responsible for running up.

No no no no no no. What we have is an Obama problem. What the chart shows is that Obama's not a Keynesian. In the fast of the worst economy since the Great Depression, Obama actually cut spending. With the results that Keynes (and the MMTers) predicted: The economy is in the toilet, millions of DISemployed are still suffering, losing their homes, losing their health care, committing suicide -- and Obama, the Fucking Democrats, and career "progressive" skills and enablers like Drum cheerfully threw them under the bus.
