

Published on Corrente (<http://www.correntewire.com>)

Home > Loss of Community

Image not found

Eureka Springs's picture

Loss of Community

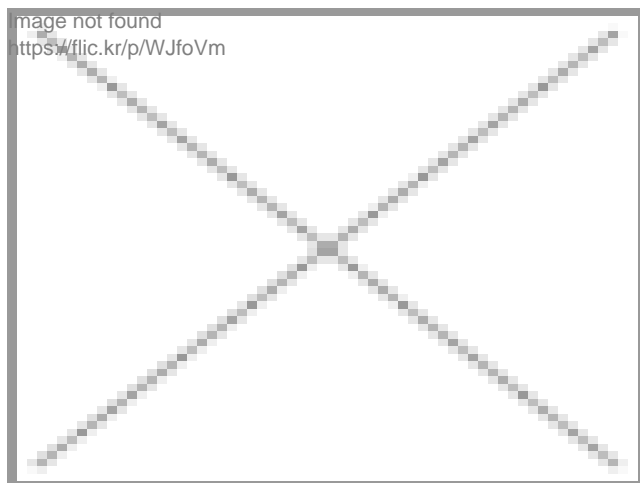

Submitted by Eureka Springs on Wed, 08/23/2017 - 9:34am

Departments:

Department of No! They Would Never to Do That! [1]

Tags:

community conversation [2]

So it's been a week since we lost our community. I certainly hope this post does not cause problems for Lambert, it's the very last thing I want to do, so please take this down if it will cause problems for you. It's just that I had no place to go, so I came here. As many of us did after the loss of Firedoglake. I don't know if the N.C. decision is permanent or not but I've had the good fortune to spend several afternoons all around the waterfall (photo included here [3]) over the last week. While there, pondering all things great and small, I realized I do not want to see the internet experience turn into a megaphone for just a few. Perhaps I'm guilty of saying too much whilst understanding so little in comments, but I value others' reflections upon matters too much to just watch it all vanish without saying goodbye this time, if indeed this is goodbye?

Source URL (modified on 08/23/2017 - 9:40am): http://www.correntewire.com/loss_of_community

Links

[1] http://www.correntewire.com/departments/department_of_no_they_would_never_to_do_that

[2] http://www.correntewire.com/category/tags/community_conversation

[3] <https://flic.kr/p/WJfoVm>